

Business Analyst Munich Office

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT AT LANSLOWNE & COMPANY:

Lansdowne & Company is an expanding and entrepreneurial international management consultancy firm with offices in Munich, Hamburg, Dubai, London, Los Angeles, Istanbul, Riyadh and Tokyo. Through our global network, we offer our employees the opportunity to develop as part of an internationally operating team and to take part in complex projects in the areas of strategy, organizational design, cost optimization and procurement management as well as turnaround and restructuring. We offer our business analysts a clearly outlined development path as well as the chance to get early active client contact. Through an ongoing close cooperation with our partners, you will draw on their many years of consulting experience at top industry players and benefit from an above-average learning curve. Based at our office in Munich you will support regional & international projects, learning to take responsibility and have the chance to develop and strengthen your analytical and methodological skills.

WHAT WE EXPECT FROM YOU:

This role is for candidates with an excellent graduate degree, preferably in business administration or industrial engineering. Ideally, you will have gathered first-hand experiences in management consulting, project management or research through previous work experience. You should furthermore be fluent in German and English, possess the ability to think analytically & creatively and demonstrate commitment and capability of working independently as well as in a team.

If you are interested in working with Lansdowne, please send your cover letter and resume to careers@lanscomp.com and please visit our website for further information about Lansdowne & Company.
